ing. The Los Angeles and Pasadena people made remarkable preparations to receive them.

Miss Davis spoke briefly but comprehensively of the most interesting events of the convention, stating that the women's association were represented by 117 delegates. Over 950 new members had been received during the year and 11 new circles had been formed. Reports of great work and opportunities in mission fields, in North Carolina, Japan, Cuba, Canada, and Scotland were made.

Speaking of the convention address by the national president. Miss Davis said that its keynote were personal responsibility, persistence and self sacrifice. At the woman's meeting $3,-600 was pledged by states and individuals and at the young people's meeting $2,000.

She closed her talk with a brief description of Universalist day at the Panama-Pacific exposition, which was sunday, July 12, when a service was held in the Court of Abundance, which was attended by about 800 people who marched in from the gate with a brass band leading the way.
